

Residence Life

There's nothing like living on campus at Carolina!

With the right investment and engagement, living on campus can change your life! While living in the residence halls, you will never again be closer to the heart of the Carolina experience. There will be countless opportunities for collaborations on classroom projects, enthralling conversations on world issues, and social connections with Tar Heels from across the globe.

Students who live on campus are more likely to interact with professors outside of class, attend cultural events, seek employment on campus, and participate in clubs and organizations. By getting involved, students develop an identity with the larger University community, quickly develop social networks, and find opportunities for intellectual, spiritual, physical, and occupational growth.

We invite you to become engaged in connecting with the intellectual climate. We expect you to enrich our communities with leadership, citizenship, civility, and personal responsibility, and we welcome your comments for how we can enhance your living and learning experience at Carolina.

Sincerely,
Allan Blattner
